I have been in constant review of all judicial proceedings regarding the final offer made by Microsoft; it has consumed much valuable time and effort on both sides if the issue. Now is the time to finally conclude these efforts. The proposal made by Microsoft is fair, tough and balanced. The consumer is very much protected. It is time. In conclusion, I feel that acceptance of the offer will greatly effect and stimulate the U.S economy, and the world's in direct proportion as when the litigation caused the markets to decline. Microsoft could lift all boats and bring back a strong economy. This is the right thing to do.
